

Clyde Hill Elementary - Young Scientist Week 2012

WHAT: A week long celebration of the scientist in every child.

WHEN: Week of January 23, 2012

MONDAY: Pacific Science Center "VOLTS AND JOLTS" assembly.

WEDNESDAY: Science Projects due and will be displayed in classroom.; Science Fair (6:30-8:00).

Science Fair will include hands-on exhibits from the Interlake Robotics Team and Issaquah Salmon Hatchery.

WHO: All Clyde Hill Elementary students

WHY: To enhance science knowledge through a variety of fun learning methods

HOW: YSW is possible thanks to PTSA funds, CH staff, students and volunteers

SCIENCE PROJECTS: All students are encouraged to complete a science project at home. Students may work alone or with a Clyde Hill friend/sibling. Creating a project using the scientific method helps children develop critical thinking skills and piques their interest in scientific subjects. Using an inquiry-based process, students will make interesting discoveries and improve reading, writing, researching, drawing and higher-level thinking skills in the BSD science curriculum. Each project will be displayed for the student's class and at the Science Fair. Now is a good time to check out science project books from the library or talk to your teachers for ideas. This is a student-driven project, but grown-ups should allow time to assist younger students. Planning ahead makes this experience more enjoyable for all. Science projects qualify for the Academic Challenge. Guidelines and registration information for YSW 2012 are available at: http://www.clydehillpta.org/programs/young\_scientist\_week\_ysw
